FRED C. CRAWFORD

WHO INTERVIEWED EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND,

GIVES HIS SIDE OF THE CASE.

He Describes His Admission Into Mr. Cleveland's Presence and What Passed Between Them.

New York, May 5 .- [Special.]-Mr. Fred Crawford, in his statement printed here of the Cleveland interview matter, says:

Grover Cleveland has, I believe, seen fit tolleny certain portions of the interview with him, published in the World of Thursday, April 17. He declares that he never used the violent and intemperate language ascribed to him in speaking me that the writer of the interview should be permitted to state his side of the case. My own reputation is as dear to me as Mr. Cleveland's can possibly be 'to him, and in this connection I wish to say that I am deeply grateful to my newspaper friends and others for their kindly expressions of confidence the relativity.

I assert on my honor that Mr. Cleveland was correctly reported in the interview in question. He was not misrepresented in any particular. I did not write out all that Mr. Cleveland said, but what not write out all that Ar. Creveland sale, you I did write was a faithful and accurate report of his conversation. Much of what was omitted was simply unprintable in any respectable journal. The circumstances attending the interview were

The circumstances attending the interview were as follows:
Wednesday afternoon, April 16, I received an assignment from the city editor of the world, Mr. James F. Graham, to go and interview Mr. Cleveland regarding a story published in the Sun of that day to the effect that the ex-president was under special treatment, invented by Dr. Schweninger, of Germany, for reducing flesh. Mr. Cleveland was represented in the article as gaining in weight at the rate of twenty-five pounds a month, and it was said that both he and his friends were seriously alarmed at his condition.

pounds a month, and it was said that doth it and his friends were seriously alarmed at his condition. I arrived at Mr. Cleveland's office at 45 William street, a little after 2 o'clock. I inquired if Mr. Cleveland was in, and received an affirmative and ant my card to swer from one of his clerks, and sent my card to him as the representative of the World. There could have been no misapprehension as to the nature of my visit. It was in no sense a social or personal call. In a few minutes the clerk brought back word that Mr. Cleveland would see me, and I was ushered into his private office. We were alone together for nearly three quarters of an hour, and Mr. Cleveland talked very freely and emphatically. Mr. Cleveland spoke in his usual deliberate man-ner and appeared to be in a perfectly normal con-all began by informing him of the object of my call, and told him that the World would be glad to publish any statement he cared to make. He said he had not seen the Sun article (he never said he had not seen the Sun article (he never read the paper, and would not touch it with a pair of tongs) and I gave him verbally the gist of it.

Mr. Cleveland straightened himself up, and made use of a profane expression reflecting on the chastity of Mr. Dana's mother. (This was omitted from the published interview).

Mr. Cleveland then launched out into a vigorous denunciation of the editor of the Sun. He said he was a blackguard, vacanhoud and dastardly secons.

I was going to publish, and I told him the sub-tance of what he had said. He drew a pencil from his pocket, and picking up a pad said: "I will write out something to guide you." He then wrote the first paragraph of the published interview.

This did not end the interview.

After writing the above, Mr. Cleveland talked for more than twenty minutes. Before Mr. Cleveland took up his pencil to write anything, he said, in substance, much of the matter contained in the interview. In preparing it for publication, I inserted it as following his written paragraph.

Mr. Cleveland then alluded to his wife, and said that Mr. Dana had not confined his attack to himthat Mr. Dana had not commed his attack to him-self—he made war or women as well as men. The attacks on Mrs. Cleveland had not been made openly or directly, but by Mr. Dana's favorite method, inuendo and jindirection. Much of the matter consisted of alleged praise of Mrs. Cleve-land, with the idea of making a contrast to his (Mr. Cleveland's) disadvantage. Cranks were sur to send Mrs. Cleveland clippings, and they annoyed her very much.

Mr. Cleveland said distinctly:

"The d-old thief, Dana, has not besitated to drag my wife's name into his scurrilous attacks. tion, I told Mr. Cleveland that I should like to use more of his talk than he had written out. I re-ferred especially to the point he made about the attacks on Mrs. Cleveland. He gave me permis-

Mr. Cleveland spoke with considerable feeling in referring to the unwarranted use that had been made of Mrs. Cleveland's name by the malignan made of Mrs. Cleveland's name by the malignant editor. There was no language, he said, strong enough to characterize the conduct of such a man. If Dana was not in his dotage, with one foot in the grave, his senile ravings would attract more attention. The unbits is disposed to look with some leniency public is disposed to look with some leniency upon a man who had paresis. That was all that saved Dana from being held to a strict accountability for his atrocious conduct. The above is practically all that Mr. Cleveland said regarding the editor of the Sun.

SIDE-TRACKED FOR AWHILE.

▲ Republican Caucus Decides to Let the River and Harbor Bill Rest.

Washington, May 5.—Immediately after the adjournment of the house, the republican members assembled in conference to endeavor to ascertain the feeling respecting the proper time to be allowed for debate in the house upon the tariff bill, and reach an understand-ing that may be adopted as the policy of the party.

The river and harbor bill managers made a strenuous leffort to have that appropriation bill made a special order for consideration to the conclusion before the tariff bill is taken up, and Mr. Henderson, who is chairman of the committee on rivers and harbors, by direction of that committee made a statement of reasons why it should be done. He pointed out the danger of the failure of the bill, through delayed consideration, and offored a resolution setting apart Wednesday and Thursday for action upon the bill. Apparently a majority of the magnbers could not be made to take his view of the matter, for it was decided by a rote of 90 to 19 that the tariff bill was a matter af prime importance and should be called up Wednesday.

Then arose a question as to the time to be allowed for its consideration. The record of proceedings of the last congress was quoted to show that the general debate and consideration of the Mills's tariff bill had run along for nearly three months, with interruption on account of the necessary consideration of general appropriation bills.

Finally it was agreed that the general debate should go on for four days—Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, of this week—with night sessions for speeches. Eight days additional will then be allowed for consideration of the bill by paragraphs under the five minute rule.

On May 21st, the previous suestion on the The river and harbor bill managers made a sideration of the bill by paragraphs under the five minute rule.

On May 21st, the previous question on the final passage of the bill is to be considered, as ordered by the terms of a special rule to be adopted.

Mr. Burrows tried, without success, to have the five minute debate go on for a few days without a fixed date for its conclusion, holding that the presiding officer could, under the rules, keep the debate within reasonable river and harbor men made another effort, this time seeking to have adopted a special rule, providing for the consideration of their bill immediately after final action upon the tariff bill; but again they were defeated. There was some talk about the remaining business before congress, and it became evident that the general feeling was that final adjournment could be reached about the middle of July.

Members of the committee on rivers and harbors feel somewhat indignant over the manner in which their bill has been side-tracked. They appreciate the fact that unless early action is taken upon that measure it may fail by reason of a lack of time for due consideration by the senate. Yielding to the inevitable, however, they are determined to press its consideration as soon as the tariff bill is out of the way, and will antagonize all other legislation until the river and harbor bill is disposed of.

THE KEMMLER CASE

Before the United States Supreme Court on a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Washington, May 5.—Roger M. Sherman today made an application in the United States supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus for Kemmler, under sentence of death in New York by electricity, pursuant to the order of Judge Wallace, of New York, directing that he should make the application immediately. The court denied the application for a writ of The court denied the application for a writ of habeas corpus, but informed Mr. Sherman that on the 19th of May the court would hear a motion for a writ of error in the case, notice to be given the attorney-general of the state. This will permit the whole record to be brought here and the case argued. The court follows the precedent established in the Spies anarchist case. As the court adjourns for the term, on May 19th, the decision denying or granting the writ of error will be announced almost immediately after the argument.

The chief justice, in denying the application for a writ of habeas corpus, said that he did so inasmuch as a writ had been granted by Judge Wallace.

Justice Blatchford then said that as Mr.

Wallace.

Justice Blatchford then said that as Mr. Sherman had applied to him in chambers, as a justice presiding over the circuit court, for a writ of error to bring the case here for review, he would suggest that Mr. Sherman should make such an application before the full court, as was done in the anarchist case.

Mr. Sherman said that he would do this, and the court said it would hear the application at its next and final session of the term, on May 19th.

A stay of execution was sometime ago asked upon the same ground, Mr. Hatch urging that nobody but the sheriff of Erie county could execute his client.

The Lynching of a Negro for an Alleg Assault—The Anger of the Mob Also Directed to His Lawyer. COLUMBIA, S. C., May 5.—[Special.]—At 2 o'clock this morning, Willie Leaphart, a negro eighteen years old, and under sentence of death for committing a criminal assault on a white girl, was murdered in the Lexington jail, twelve miles from this city. THE CRIME CHARGED. At the March term of court Lepahart was in-dicted for an attempt to commit an assault.

He had no lawyer and no witnesses, and the judge appointed a lawyer to defend him. Upon the stand Rosa Cannon, the girl, who Lepahart was indicted for the attempted assault on, testified that the deed had actually been com mitted, and although the negro proved that he had been absent at a church a mile distant, in but twenty minutes he was convicted and sen-tenced to be hanged on the 11th of April. On the evening of April 10th the Egovernor was presented with an affidavit, made by a per-sen in Lexington, of such a character that the judge has indorsed upon it his request that a respite be granted and Lepahart was brought here to prevent a lynching. The governor accordingly respited the boy until May 9th, in order that a motion for a new trial might be

THE GOVERNOR DENOUNCED. The people of Lexington, in mass meeting, denounced him for his action, and sent a dozen of their prominent men to demand the return of the prisoner and to be put in possession of all the papers filed in the case. The governor refused to show the papers until the excito-ment had abated, as it was feared the life of the person making the affidavit upon which the judge acted, and of the prison-er's lawyer, might be taken. He, having no power to send the prisoner back to Lexington, referred the delegation to the julge, who, upon the members of the committee signing a bond pledging themselves for the safety of the prisoner, granted an order remanding Lepahart to the Lexington

The principal complaint of the people of that county had been that they had been doubted, and were not considered law-abiding men. Lepahart was taken back to Lexington just three-weeks ago.

THE ASSAULT ON THE JAIL.

He was covered by held a doze weakers and the kery of the by half a dozen revolvers, and the keys of the jail demanded, and these he at once surrendered and the doors of the jail, although secured by combination locks, the workings of which were supposed to be known only by the sheriff, were soon opened and the party en-

THE PRISONER SHOT DOWN. An attempt was made to bring Leaphart outside and hang him, but the negro fought with desperation. He seized a bar or club that was in his cell and knocked down several of the foremost men. The lynchers thereupon opened fire upon the prisoner with rifles and revolvers, and in a few minutes he was riddled by over a hundred bullets. The party then left the jail, and this morning the streets were placarded, charging the governor and judge with the responsibility of the murder.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION IN HAND. It is understood that the governor has important information in his possession in regard to the case, that will be made public in a day or two. It is rumored that the murdered negro was innecent of the crime charged, and that he was prosecuted to conceal the crime of others, and so was the victim of a horrible

If this is true, it will come out, for the solicitor for the state will begin investigation at the coroner's inquest tomorrow. As only a few of the lynching party were masked, a number of them can be identified.

Governor Richardson was notified tonight that John T. Graham, the attorney for Leap-hart, had fled from Lexington from a mob that threatened his life, and that there were about fifty drunken men in the town, some of whom were surrounding the house of Graham, where his wife and children were. The tapper of the mob indicated that if they at-tacked the house they would have respect for tacked the house they would have respect for neither sex or age, and the governor was re-quested to send protection for these people from this city. He immediately wired the sheriff to guard Graham's house, and protect the immates with a posse, and that the sheriff would be held responsible for the peace of the town and the safety of Mrs. Graham and her children. It is said that Lawyer Graham left Lexington for Columbia early in the after-noon, and as he has not arrived, some appre-hension is felt for his safety. hension is felt for his safety.

It is a personal sorrow, much more than a public sorrow to many of us, more especially, probably, to us who had been his friend since I was a lad of ten years of age; connected with him by every possible tie which can connect two men, except blood and relationship. It was in this house he won his first national reputation—a-reputation based on the loftiest qualities of true manhood. His life was one of the most romantic in American politics. The Succession to Senator Beck.

The Succession to Senator Beck.

Washington, May 5.—[Special.]—Already the question who will succeed Senator Beck is under discussion. The general impression af first seemed to be that ex-Speaker Carlisle would unquestionably be the man. He is considered the ablest man in Kentucky, and the one man above all others who is entitled to anything within the gift of the people of his state. However, a friend of Mr. Carlisle said today that he wanted to come back to the house. He] feels that he can be of more service to his party in the lower house than in the senate, that he would favor his friend, Representative W. C. R. Breckinridge, the silvertengued and silver-haired orator of Kentucky, for the senate. Representative McCreary, however, wants to go to the senate and he, too, is very strong in Kentucky. Should Mr. Carlisle not enter the race there will be a very lively scramble for the senatorship. However, in the event there is a candidate, his election is almost a certainty. The Succession to Senator Beck.

Putting Up Carlisle for the Senate. LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5.—Governor Buckner, contrary to last night's announcement, to-day sent formal notice of Senator Beck's death to the legislature, and the election of a successor will consequently take place on May 13th. A joint resolution of respect and regret was adopted by the legislature. Governor Buckner is spoken of as a candidate to succeed Mr. Beck, but he has frequently said emphatically that he wants to serve his term as governor, and is not seeking any other office.

Congressman Breckinridge, it is understood, will not be a candidate, nor will Lieutenant-Governor Bryan. Aspirants to succeed Mr. Carlisle in congress are vigorously pushing him for the senate.

The great carpenters' strike is finally settled. The necessary papers were signed today and ratified by both sides concerned in the arbitration. The last report will be made tomorrow morning to judicial umpires. Thursday morning scores of buildings that for four weeks have been practically deserted will echo with the sound of the hammers and saws in the hands of fully 4,000 journeymen carpenters. The two arbitration committees of the new Boss Carpenters' association and the strikers met this afternoon at the Grand Pacific hotel with Judges Driggs, McConnell and Tuley, and after a session of three hours' length settled the last detail. The journeymen achieved an almost sweeping victory. They made concessions on but two points, and every journeyman carpenter throughout the city was jubilant tonight over the result.

There were but few of them to be seen at their meeting here this morning. Those that were there said that two hundred bosses had granted the demand and that only thirty-flye had refused. In the latter places the men had struck. It is expected that all difficulties will be settled within a week. The housemiths did not go on strike today, their demands having been complied with. The entire police force was on reserve duty today in case their services were needed, but no troubles have called for their interference.

PRESS COMMENT.

London, May 5.—The Pall Mall Gazetie, commenting upon yesterday's labor demonstration in Hyde park, says:

The marvelous spectacle will cause yesterday to rank among the most decisive days in the industries of England. The demonstration was a spontaneous and gennine working class movement. No continental country could produce so striking a sign of earnestness as was afforded by the enormous procession, pouring streams of luman beings into the park.

The St. James Gazette admits that an enormous number of men took part in the demonstration, but minimizes its importance. It places the number of men in the park at 250,000, but claims that a large portion of them were idlers.

The Times, Standard and Press, of all shades of opinion, agree that the demonstration was

The Bank Officers Say They Will Be Able to Pay the Depositors in Full—Other Banks in Trouble.

Norristown, Pa., May 5.—The Montgomery Insurance, Trust and Safe Deposit company of this city suspended payment this morning. A run began as soon as the place opened. Shortly before 3 o'clock Vice-President Chain, o' the Trust company, appeared and read the following to thirty or more depositors who were in line at the time:

"The board of directors, as at present advised, deem it for the interest of all depositors that the Montgomery Insurance, Trust and Safe Deposit company should suspend payment, and therefore announce that ao more money will be paid. From an examination of the assets which has been made, we feel confident in saying that all depositors will be paid in full, and that it is not likely that the company will sustain any loss. All trust funds are separately invested and safely secured."

likely that the company will sustain any loss. All trust funds are separately invested and safely secured."

Assoon as they heard this the depositors assembled went home confident that they would get their money. The suspension of the Trust company is due to unauthorized loans made by Treasurer William F. Slingluff, who resigned Saturday and assigned his property to the company. Slingluff was also cashier of the Montgomery bank, an institution closely allied to the Trust company, and there has been a run on the bank today, which, however, exhausted itself about 2 o'clock.

After banking hours, President John Sling Juff, of the two institutions, who is a brother of Cashier Slingluff, furnished the following figures in relation to the day's transactions: Payments by the bank, $107,293; deposits, $20,431; payments by the Trust company, $7.000. Of the amount taken out of the bank $33,000 comprised the regular monthly withdrawals of the railroads.

President Slingluff said this evening that the trust company would resume as soon as possible. The directors were going to convert collateral into cash, and if favorable arrangements could be made they might resume within a day or two, or inside of a week at the latest. They had gone over the paper held by the bank and trust company, and the least would probably not be more than $30,000, and in no event not more than $100,000, and a surplus of $300,000 amply secured every depositor. Sometime ago it was discovered by the directors that the cashier and treasurer (Slingluff) had borrowed $180,000 on his own responsibility. He secured the leans with what he considered ample security, but the company, the People's Railway company and the American Life Insurance company, three institutions in which the syndicate controlling the suspended bank of America, of Philadelphia, and the institution in New Jersey, which it carried down, are largely interested.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 5.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Berlin, Wis., says: The private bank of Charles A. Mather & Co. closed its doors this morning, the firm having made an assignment to Joseph Yates. James M. Hawley, the junior member of the house, has disappeared. The assets are placed at $110,000, and liabilities at $160,000. The bneiness of the bank seems to have been carried on in a reckless manner, many accounts being overdrawn, and large numbers of apparently worthless notes being held as collateral. A hasty examination of the books by the assignee gives him the impression that he can pay seventy-five cents on the dollar, but the hopes of the assignee are not shared by the creditors, who are all Berlin people.

PHILADRLPHIA, May 5.—J. Monroe Shellenberger, the Doylestown, Pa., lawyer, who ran away several weeks ago after swindling clients and farmers in Bucks county out of nearly $150,000, returned last night, and spent today at the house of his brother-in-law in this city. After leaving Doylestown, Shellenberger went west, and was seen at Tacoma, but he disappeared from that city before the warrant could be served upon him. This morning Shellenberger sent word to the sheriff of Bucks county that he was here awaiting his orders. The sheriff came to the city tonight, and left for Doylestown with his prisoner on the 11 o'clock train. Those who saw the once handsome and dashing lawyer say that he looks much broken in health, and it is believed that he came back to the scene of his operations and gave himself up because he was tired of hiding away from the officers of the law.

DEVELOPS A CONTEST IN THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

But Little Work Is Done by the Convention Points About the Boys.

Delegates from all parts of the state met yesterday in Atlanta to hold the second annual convention of the Southern Travelers' asso-

Although the delegates enjoyed themselves greatly, the main purpose of this meeting still remains unaccomplished.

Owing to a grave difficulty which the board of directors were unable to overcome, it was decided not to call the convention to order until this morning. The directors of the gen eral association were averse to making the cause of their disunion public. They admitted, however, that the Atlanta delegation was the

THE CAUSE OF THE DELAY.

Several of the cities of Georgia are anxious to have the headquarters of the association and are equally anxious to furnish the pres dent. This is parlicularly the case with Atlanta and Savannah, and a friendly struggle to obtain the coveted prize has been looked for-ward to for several months.

When the board of directors met at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, the point was raised that Atlanta had neglected to comply with a clause in the constitution, which requires the payment of one dollar for each nember into the general treasury thirty days before the convention. It was urged, there fore, that Atlanta was not entitled to any representative whatever, although the president of the Atlanta branch was provided with $600 to pay the necessary dues of six hundred mem-It was claimed that it was too late and the money could not be received.

The services of Hon. W. H. Fleming, the attorney of the association, were called on, and he gave a decision, which, however, was kept secret. Just how many votes Atlanta would have in the convention was the cause of further deliberation, and it was decided to adjourn the directors' meeting until 2 o'clock today and proceed with the programme.

WAITING FOR THE DIRECTORS.

All the delegates were fully aware of the difficulty, and it was the subject of general comment among those who were assembled at Concordia hall while the directors were meeting at the Kimball house.

At 10 o'clock the street parade was to take place, and as a hard rain came up just previous to the appointed hour, the time was passed in hearing speeches from several of the gentle-men. Those who made short talks were Mr. Jones Gardener, of Augusta; Mr. S. P. Weisiger, of Augusta; Mr. L. Lieberman, of Atnta; Mr. Ward Abrams, of Savannah, and Mr. Andrew Kennedy, of Macon.

Mr. Kennedy in his remarks said that though he lived in Macon, he, like the rest of the citizens of the state, read THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, and by so doing he got the news with sufficient fullness to make him feel perfectly at home when he came to Atlanta. At the close of Mr. Kennedy's speech Chaplain J. L. Gilmore said a few words, and ther it was announced that the exercises at the opera house would take place, and if the rain did not cease the parade would be postponed.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.
Several of the Atlanta branch hurried the opera house and found a number of the Wilson minstrels preparing scenery. They quickly cleared the stage and by the time the chairs were placed in position e delegates and speakers arrived.

President Atwater and Mr. Clark Howell occupied the front seats, and behind them sat Mayor Glenn, George Collier, D. J. Clark, J. A. Van, J. L. Gilmore, F. F. Douglas, W. H Fleming, president, Dean Newman, W. K. Weisiger, John M. Green. On the mayor's right, Colonel E. P. Howell, Mr. J. G. Oglesby, W. A. Camp, E. B. Pilcher, Captain W. A. Hansell, Henry Ingram, H. H. Cabaniss, Captain Jervey, Captain Lowry and Clinton M. Felder.

Mr. Clark Howell introduced the speakers. He said that the first speaker would most likely be one day governor of the state; but, without waiting, he had made a reputation which extended all over the state. He then named Hon. J. T. Glenn, mayor of Atlanta.

MAYOR GLENN WELCOMES THE BOYS.

Mayor Glenn said that he felt embarrassed in speaking to such an audience, although he made his living by talking; but, as out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh, he hoped to find words in which to welcome the drummers to Atlanta. When he was asked to speak to the traveling men, he said that he had sent to the library for a book on the subject, or a poem or anything that would give him some information as to the habits of the drummer. In reply he received this letter.

which he read:

ATLANTA, Ga., May 3, 1890.—Hon. John T. Glenn—Dear Sir: I am sorry to say that we have absolutely nothing on the subject of commercial travelers, drummers, etc.—not even a poem or an epitaph. I suppose the reason is, that their abnormal shyness and modesty prevent the collection of data in regard to the habits, traits, etc., of this remarkable genus. Respectfully, GEORGE CAMPBELL, Assistant Secretary.

After speaking a few genial words of welgome the mayor gave the drummers the freedom of the city, and concluded by service.

Mr. Kennedy, of Macon, has filled every position in his branch, and as he is one of the best speakers among the traveling men, he deen handed to Mr. Clark Howell, and when Mayor Glenn sat down Mr. Howell announced that he had a letter from the governor. It read:

I should esteem it a privilege to welcome to Georgia the representatives of so many states of our southern section. Let me say to you, however, in this brief note, that we are glad to see you in this capital city and this state. No one appreciates more highly than myself the important work done by your association. In addition to the helping hand, given by you to all branches of business enterprise, you ought to be, and doubtless are, important factors in extending and perpetuating good will among all the people with whom you come in contact. COLONEL E. P. HOWELL. Colonel E. P. Howell was the next speaker. He kept the audience in a continual roar of laughter for twenty minutes. The boys thoroughly appreciated his stories, and gave marked evidence of their appreciation. MR. WEISIGER AND MR. OGLESBY.

Mr. Sam Weisiger, the former president of the association, made a short talk, and was followed by Mr. J. G. Oglesby, who told of the time when he himself was a drummer. He said that when he spoke at the chamber of commerce to men representing $600,000,000 he telt no embarrassment, but now before the drummers his knees were shaking strangely. This he attributed to the weakness of money and the power of the drummers. He said he knew the traveling men had a band time of its attributed to heave the stranger of the drummers.

GRATUITOUS ADVICE. This species of advice is not always acceptable, but in many instances much benefit would be derived were it acted upon. No section of the country is exempt from disease. To know the best means of combatting this common enemy, with the least injury to our pockets and tastes, is certainly a great advantage. We must expect Torpid Liver, Congested Spleen, Viltated Blie and Inactive Bowels, and all prudent persons will supply themselves with Tutt's Pills, which at insulate the Liver, relieve the engorged Spleen, etermine a healthy flow of Blie, thus regulating the bowels and causing all unhealthy secretions to pass off in a natural manner. "An oance of preventive is worth a pound of cure." Be advised and use

VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA ("once tried, always used") is the original, pure, soluble Cocoa, invented, made and patented in Holland, and is to-day better and more soluble than any of the numerous imitations. In fact, it is generally admitted all over Europe (and a comparative test will easily prove) that no other Cocoa equals this Inventor's in solubility, agreeable taste and nutritive qualities. "Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Da. G. C. OSGOOD,

⁸¹ Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves. 1. Atlanta, like nearly all cities, is rapidly building up and extending westward, and will continue to do so.

2. The three most important railroads entering Atlanta—the main feeders over which most of our supplies, especially coal, wood, timber, lumber, brick and other manufacturing supplies comeenter the city on the west side, and run together very near this property.

3. Nearly all the factories, shops and manufactories of Atlanta are now and will be located in the western portion of the city, and they will continue to extend westward along and near the railroads over which their supplies come. Such is the natural and inevitable result.

4. Hence the population, manufacturing and commercial interests, and wealth also, of Atlanta will surely extend westward and cause the western portion of the city to fill up rapidly, and the value of the property to increase wonderfully and rapidly. Therefore this fine property will prove to be safe and very profitable investments.

5. For homes this property offers as many attractions as any in the vicinity. It is elevated, commands fine views of the city, is perfectly healthy and pleasant, is favored with pure, fresh air and water, is near street cars, railroads, stores, schools, churches, and nearly all the factories and shops of the city, and is just one and three-quarter miles from the carshed, the actual center of the city, theing just outside the city limits, where it is exempt from city taxes, yet by the new streets that have been and will be opened straight to the property, it is a very short walk to the business and central portion of the city, and will run just outside this property and will add much to its value.

7. A movement is now on foot to open Chestnut street along the east side of this property from Marietta street and Beliwood straight through to West End and Westiew cemetery, and it is thought that street cars will be run across from this section of this property renders it absolutely certain that it will build up and soon be-city.

8. The location of this property renders it absolutely certain that it will build up and soon become very valuable. We have no doubt but that the Marietta and North Georgia raitroad will have to come into the city across this property. It must advance rapidly in value because of its convenience to the business and manufacturing portions of the city. Examine and think a little, advance rapidly in value because of its convenience to the business and manufacturing portions of the city. Examine and think a little, and you will be convinced that this fine property will soon double in value, and is the location to buy, either for homes or to make money on. You can't put your money into anything that will be safer or more profitable. Atlanta property increases in value every year, and the safest, quickest and best way to make money is to buy and self-lots. Titles absolutely perfect. Terms, one-fourth cash, and balance six, twelve and eighteen months, with interest at eight per cent. Free ride on special Marietta street cars at 2:30 p. m., sharp. Everybody invited.

The first issue of our new paper the "Harmony Grove Age," has made its appearance.
The Age is an 18x24 inch seven-column paper, with patent outside and home inside print.
The name of Mr. N. S. Alexander appears as editor of the Age, and judging from the first issue one would think him a veteran journalist, when, in fact, that is his first experience in that line.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is on the flood tide of popularity, which position it has reached by ts own intrinsic, undoubted merit.

We have saved our customers the jobber's prifit for the last six years. This accounts partly for the steady increase of the demand for our fine Havana cigars which equal in tasts, flavor and Spanisn workmanship the best imported from Cuba; and they give entire satisfaction, for Atlant's prominent men have been our steady customers ever since we established our factory. We sell to the retail trade at wholesale price in quantities of one box and upward. We guarantee our goods and ship them to any place in the country. And we are willing at any time to take the goods back and refund the money if they do not turn out to be as we represent them. The buyer runs, therefore, no risk at all.

General Phil Cook Leads Off.

The quarters began to rain down upon the desk of the elephant editor yesterday.

General Phil Cook was the first to contribute. He put down his quarter without a word, but with evident enjoyment.

It was worth a dozen quarters to see little Fred Cooledge walk up to the elephant editor's table, he could barely peep over, and throw down his list of fifteen quarters.

The childish nonchalance with which he threw down the money was worthy of a lord proprietor.

Afflicted Since a Child.

My wife had been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and neuralgia of the stomach since she was eleven years of age, suffering at times the most excruciating agony. Physicians were totally unable to benefit her. I placed her under the treatment of Dr. Evans some six weeks ago, who gave her instant relief, and by a few treatments effected a complete cure, and I consider her a well woman.

Manager of the Weekly Atlanta Constitution.

I was a complete cripple with paralysis of my right side. I could walk but little, and could not raise my arm to my head. I applied to Dr. Evans, when he was practicing here eight years ago, who cured me, and I have remained a well man ever since. I know scores of others whom he cured during his former visit to Atlanta. Very respectfully,

Very respectfully, 26 Fowler St., P. O. Box 211.

My wife had been as helpless as a babe for one year. Could not even turn herself in bed or sit unsupported when assisted to that position during all that period, from female weakness, nervous exhaustion, displacement and paralysis. Dr. Evans visited her six weeks ago and gave her a magnetic treatment, which so far restored her that she arose from her bed the next morning and walked around the room, and in a few days she was able to take a carriage and visit him, and is now quite a well woman. We would be pleased to have anyone who so desires to call on us and learn for themselves the apparent miracle Dr. Evans has wrought on her.

The Elephant Fund.

"A Conservative Citizen" wants to know how much hay a healthy elephant will consume in one day.

The answer to this is, first, get your elephant and experiment with him. That's what Atlanta-which is ruled mainly by the children-proposes to do.

We may state, however, that the Grant park authorities stand ready to supply the "ruffage," so to speak, and the youngsters will supply the apples and the gingercakes. There will be no trouble at all if the town gets the elephant; and if anything stands in the way of raising the money we should like to know what it is.

The matter is one that appeals to the public spirit and city pride of everybody. It is said, and no doubt with truth, that New York does more for the enjoyment of its population than any other city in the country. This is a grand record for any municipality to have, and Atlanta is not yet prepared to compete with the metropolis in this direction, but at least the town can get an

Perhaps some "conservative citizen" would like to be informed how the elephant can be procured. Well, we don't mind telling. Little Fred Cooledge, aged six, walked into THE CONSTITUTION office yesterday, accompanied by his little brother Aurelian, aged four, and said it was just as easy as falling off a log. He had a handful of quarters, and he declared that he was going to get an elephant to put in the park. In five minutes he raised $3.75, and he's going to raise more.

We are very well satsified with the start that has been made. With a list headed by General Phil Cook, and with a lot of brighteyed youngsters in line, all enthusiastic, it is, as little Fred Cooledge says, as easy as falling off a log.

The boys and girls who are to raise the elephat fund are not at work yet. They haven't fairly started. Today will be a good day, and we hope to have some good reports for tomorrow. Lists of names and subscriptions should be reported to THE CONSTITUrion by 6 p. m. on each day.

Atlanta must have the elephant!

A Government Duty. The New Orleans newspapers are making vigorous appeals to the government to assist the people of Mississippi and Louisiana in sustaining the levees. They hold that the Mississippi river is a national highway; it reaches twenty important ports and harbors In twenty states, and it is clearly the duty of the government to come to the rescue of the people who inhabit its fertile shores and protect them from the floods that overwhelm them by building and maintaining levees which would offer the greatest resistance. These levees have heretofore been built the tax to which they were subjected to keen them up has been a great burden, while the aid which the government has given to the work from time to time has been too meagre to produce any permanent beneficial re-

They say that if the floods which ravage the shores of Louisiana and Mississippi were of local origin, the people would willingly apply local remedies: but such is not the case floods are the drainage of nearly thirty states and territories; hence, an overflow becomes a national calamity, by which only a few

It is clearly the duty of the government to take the matter in hand and give the people the relief asked. It extends aid to them when the floods overtake them and they are driven from their homes and made to suffer; why not do better, and prevent the suffering by keeping a watchful eye on their levees, and making them strong to resist the advancing waters!

The "Patent Outside."

The "patent outside" is now as well known to the public as it is to the editors who use it; and it must be said, in view of the circumstances which make it indispensa ble to country editors, the prejudice against It is most unreasonable.

The "patent outsides" which the newspaper unions furnish to the weekly press of Georgia contain a great variety of interesting reading, are very carefully edited, and furnish more matter for the money than the editor could afford to get up at home. And this is where they "fill a long-felt want."

But it is safe to say that the editors, while they patronize them, would infinitely prefer to get their matter up themselves and print the whole of their paper at home. This they cannot do, however, with the local suppor which their papers receive, so in order to get out a respectable sheet, they are forced to co-operate with the newspaper unions.

The editors are doing the very best they can for the building up of their towns and counties, and it is rather a reflection on the people that their efforts are restricted to the atent outside." There is not a county in the state that is too poor to support a weekly newspaper printed all at home. The diseas from which all country editors suffer islack of appreciation; their subscribers want the earth for a dollar a year, with a hope of a hereafter thrown in for good measure; they object to the "patent outside," and yet re-to sustain the paper in any other shape. There is not a weekly newspaper in the etate but that is worth ten times the price asked for it to every citizen in the community; the treasury of the editor should al-sometimes is; for his paper, no matter how small and insignificant it appears, is really the most important factor in the growth of the town and county. The people who ob ject to "patent outsides" have power to do away with them by simply giving their home papers the hearty support they deserve. It is a question they must answer for themselves.

The Lard Jobbery Bill.

If, as Mr. Wedderburn says, the granges of Virginia favor the passage of the infa-mous Conger lard bill, it is because they have been deceived as to the purposes and desires of those who are making such great efforts in behalf of the lard trust, which has its headquarters in Chicago. We are confident that if the Patrons of Husbandry of Virginia could have the facts of the case laid before them they would be in line with the rest of the farmers of the south, for, with the facts before them, they would at once perceive that the sole intention of the Conger bill is to drive a cheap and wholesome food product out of the marke for the benefit of the lard-makers of the north and west, whose filthy product cannot compete with the clean, healthful and cheap compound lard.

This is the sole purpose of the bill. The attack on a southern industry, and on the market for cotton seed, is merely an incident though it is the most serious feature of the bill, so far as the south is concerned. The measure is infamous in all its parts-in its intention and in the results that it will oring about. It is not only class legislation -it is far worse. It is an attempt to tax out of the market a cheap and wholesome article of food in order that the manufacturers of hog's fat may realize a larger profit on their product. A more dishonest piece of jobbery was never discussed in congress.

The infamy of it is intensified when the fact is borne in mind that there has been no demand for such legislation on the part of the people-the consumers-who are most directly interested. The people find the compound lard cheap and healthful. It has become so popular as an article of food that, by open competition, it threatens to drive the filthy hog's fat from the market. The Conger bill is drawn up by the millionaires who compose the lard trust, and we are of the opinion that its support in congress is bought and paid for.

The incidental attack on southern interests is another infamous feature of the bill. It is only during the last few years that cotton seed has been utilized in the manufacture of oil, and their value increased. Previous to this utilization the seed was thrown into the compost heap and allowed to rot. But since the cotton seed oil industry has sprung up they have become a definite part of the profits of the cotton crop. There is a market for what has heretofore been one of the waste products of the farm.

But now the oil mills in the south, which are engaged in utilizing the seed, represent an investment not far short of $75,000,000. The value of the oil that is now produced from the seed is equal to $12,000,000, or five per cent of the co.ton crop. One-half of this product, or $6,000,000 worth, is used as an ingredient in compound lard, which the people have endorsed by buying in preference to hog's fat.

That such a measure as this could be introduced in congress is disgraceful; that it should be reported favorably by a congressional committee is infamous.

Larry Gantt, the Farmer.

Larry Gantt is an all-round good man, and a man in the right place, no matter where he unfurls his Banner; whether he is editing a newspaper, building a railroad or boycotting a national administration; when time is called he is always up and smiling and ready for the fight. Under his control the Athens Banner has made a wonderful stride, and it may be said that it has leaped from comparative obscurity into national fame and prominence, while its work for Athens is seen in the industrial progress which that plucky little city has made during the past year, and is making now.

Larry Gantt is in sympathy with every movement which promises to benefit the people of Georgia; his untiring efforts to set the Georgia Carolina and Northern moving are well remembered, but in no cause has he been more active than in the cause of the farmer, whose rights he has championed on all occasions with eloquent tongue and pen. One of the best speeches of his life was de livered Saturday before the Farmers' alliance at Bethlehem, in Walton county; it was eloquent throughout, interspersed with lively, pointed anecdotes, and made a profound impression on his audience. We pre sent a few spirited extracts:

"I am not afraid that alliancemen will permit take not, the farmer boys intend to plant them selves firmly on the back of every man electe a public position, and if he don't plumb the re is going to be some pretty rough geeing and

The Johnson's Island Memorial.

Colonel John O. Waddell and Mr. S. S. Sweet deserve the thanks of the state for their labor of love in raising the money to mark with marble slabs the graves of the confederate dead on Johnson's island.

A year ago, when the Georgia farmers went to Ohio, these gentlemen saw the decaving wooden headboards which were then the only marks of the final resting places of our soldiers. Since that time Colonel Waddell and Mr. Sweet have by personal effort raised the $500 necessary to mark each grave ways be full to overflowing, not empty, as it | with a slab of Georgia marble engraved with the name and state of the soldier. They have paid everything but a small sum for setting up the stones, and the money is in hand to pay that bill as soon as it is received. THE CONSTITUTION printed on Sunday a diagram of the cemetery on the island, with the names of the soldiers buried there, but by a strange oversight the labor of love by these gallant gentlemen was omitted. There is a comradeship among them that s near akin to the comradeship of war. Nothing but war is fiercer than their competition. But, thanks to their unfailing equanimity, it is never a cruel war, and nowhere is there a fairer or squarer fight than on the road. Face to face they meet each other every day, laughing, sparring and defiant. It is a wonderful education for the making of good men. There is something in it that develops a serenity of spirit which triumphs over the vexation of this rough and tumble life—a temper that transcends the annoyances of competition and holds on to its nerves and its stomach. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE. "A Modern Paul."

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: In the Saturday issu

of the Atlanta Journal there appeared an article headed, "A Modern Paul, Persecuted for His Religious Beliefs," etc., after which followed a story of persecution and imprisonment suffered by one Dr. Francis Arriaga, a Cuban, who has come all the way to Atlanta to be baptized. I can only request the good people of Atlanta who have rear this contradictory and improbable story to withole their judgment until something can be learned or this man's antecedents from Cuba; information will be sought at once.

I believe his statements concerning persecution and imprisonment to be grossly exaggerated. Would a man imprisoned because of his belief being contrary to Catholic doctrine be afterwards sent on missions?

His whole story has the stamp of the improbable upon it. The church prevents no one from leaving her fold.

Before undertaking to answer this man in regard to his statement of facts, which cannot be done without information from Cuba, it would be well for the people here to bear this in mind. Is it not singular that he who could have readily converted in Cuba comes all the way to At lanta for that purpose, and contemplates going to a conventin to be held at Fort Worth? He is a "poseur," and when the collection is taken up after the harrowing tale is told, bear in mind what has

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: In your Sunday paper I observe your synopsis of my sketch in the Sunny South, regarding the old Georgia Military institute. In giving apicture of Major Capers, you made the error of giving the name as H. D. Capers. I beg leave to correct you that much. The superintendent of the Georgia Military institute, was General F. W. Capers, who was the major of our "battalion of cadets," in the service. H. D. Capers was in command of the Twelfth Georgia Battalien, which was formed out of part of the First Georgia Regiment, after the expiration of the first year of service in Virginia. Ineset two officers were brothers, F. W. Capers being the one in command of our battalion of cadets, and H. D. Capers commanded the Twelfth Georgia Battalion in Virginia. Both were gallant officers. While the subject is pertinent, will you allow me further to remark that the reorganization of a military institute in our state is a proper matter for consideration.

We have a number of good citizens here who might encourage the movement. We have at our door a school that is a fine basis for a military academy. I allude to the school of Professor Neal, at Edgewood. I was conferring with him a few days ago on this subject, and the idea meets his approval, to found a state institution here, somewhat on the plas or model of the old Georgia Military institute at Marietta.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 5, 1890.—Editors Constitu-tion: I beg, in the interest of the police force of our city, for space in your paper to reply to the card of one J. C. Jenkins. He calls the attention of the police commission to the frequent arrests which turns out to be groundless and unwarranted. Let us see. Mr. Etheridge arrested three white men (the case reported) for disorderly conduct and loitering. The three men, when brought before the preparter were sworn one as to the white men (the case reported) for disorderly conduct and loitering. The three men, when brought before the recorder, were sworn one as to the other in regard to the disorderly conduct and loitering. Of course, neither knew anything against the other. Mr. Etheridge and Mr. Taylor both swore that they heard swearing and vulgar songs, but could not testify to any particular one. The officers could not swear that the house in which these loiterers were found was under the control of the gentleman who ordered them removed. The only mistake made by the officers was, that they failed to have the party present who ordered the case made. Had this been done each of the men would have been fined. Now, as to the negro, John Jones. Mr. Sherman made the arrest, and turned the prisoner over to Mr. Etheridge, while he looked up the witnesses. Three negro men reported this case. It is often the case that officers are called on to make arrests by ne groes who, when put upon the stand as witnesses, tell altogether a different tale frem that told the officer. An investigation will show that nearly all cases dismissed are reported, and the officers know nothing whatever of the Cridence. As to three peacable sons of toil, Thomas Malone, John Clark and Bud Martin, the recorder's docket will show that usually when engaged in peacable toil, it is under the supervision of the Malone, John Clark and Rud Martin, the recorder's docket will show that usually when engaged in peacable toil, it is under the supervision of the the manager of the stockade and chaingang. As to the light-weight champion of the three peacable sons of toil, it has only been a few days since he was fined by the recorder. He left the court room with passion, blood and thunder stamped on every feature. The opportunity at last arrived for him to jump on the police force with both his little feet, and poor Etheridge in particular. Poor police force, poor Etheridge. Ha, ha, ha! Jolly, ain't it fun?

Judge J. S. Judge Hook's address was a most practical one, showing the trachers the importance of their calling, and the great good they could do their race by instilling into them the principles of right as well as mere technical decation. He explained to them the workings of the school systems of the school systems. plained to them the workings of the school system, showing that in the distribution of funds the state treated white and black alike. He also explained to them how and where they might find remedies for any local injustice that might be done to them. He dwelt particularly upon the great field of usefulness that was opened to them, and assured them that in all their efforts to elevate their race they would find willing assistance from all the white people of the state. He told them they could point with pride to the advancement they had made within the past twenty-five years, an advancement that no other race had ever made within the same space of time. Judge Hook's address was attentively listened to, and it was evident that the colored teachers regarded him as their friend. The meeting tendered him their thanks by a rising vote.

A Wonderful Exhibition.-The Phonograph company has now on exhibition an unusually fine collection of cylinders. Probably the most won-derful record ever on exhibition here is a cylinder on which have been taken the chimes of Trinity church, New York. The record was taken in the belfry, and every tone is perfectly reproduced, even to the rattle and clang of the bells, which can only be heard when very close to the chimes. An-other cylinder has a piece of banjo music by other cylinder has a piece of harlow hitself George Weston, Jr., formerly of Barlow, Prim and West. It is a perfect reproduction, and only less remarkable than the music of the chir The Prize March of Cappa's Seventh Regin band has all the swing and vibration of the b of fifty pieces, and, through all, the tones of the individual instruments are very distinct—as much so as when heard directly. The exhibition is, indeed, a wonderful one, and it will pay anybody to take the trouble to see it. By the way, one of the latest and most novel adaptations of the famous Edison phonograph is with the nickle in the slot machine. By a simple mechanical arrangment the phonograph is fitted up with this machine and placed in hotels and favorite loafing places. Then by dropping in a nickle the machine starts, and you get a piece of choice music, a speech, or something else, which is re-peated as often as the nickle is dropped in the slot. They have been intro-duced in New York, and are proving a great success. There are always plenty of people who are anxious to hear the talking ma-chine, and it gets very little rest. Clerk Woodward presented the consolidated returns of the election managers on waterworks bonds, and sewer bonds election. Mr. Kontz moved that the paper be referred to the waterworks and finance committees.

Han, David Mayer's Successor,

Major W. F. Slaton, superintendent of the board of education, sent in a communication notifying the general council of the death of Hon. David Mayer, a member of the board.
"I move we proceed to the election of Mr.
Mayer's successor," said Mr. Hendrix.

Mayor Glenn took the chair and asked for pominations, saying:
"Mr. Mayer represented the first ward, and as I understand the law his successor must e from that ward." Mr. Hirsch nominated Mr. Aaron Haas.

Mr. Middlebrooks nominated Mr. Jacob

Elsas.
Mr. Lambert presented Hon. Joseph Hirsch.
"I must decline," said Mr. Hirsch.
But the roll call began and Mr. Howell, the first on the list, voted for Mr. Hirsch.

It provides that on and after June 1st, 1890, one of the duties of the city tax collector and his assistant shall be to register qualified voters of the city as they pay their taxes annually. That officer shall have prepared printed blanks containing the cath required of voters proposing to register now, in the form set out in the ordinance.

"It shall be his duty," the ordinance says, "to administer to each tax payer wishing to register the required oath, and the voter shall subscribe to the oath in the presence of the collector or his assistant, who shall preserve all the affidavits and from them shall compile a book for each ward, showing the names and residences of the qualified voters for each word. Only the names of those taking such affidavits by the 25th day of November in each year shall be placed on the register qualified voters taking the prescribed oath, even if they do not pay or offer to pay the taxes of the current year, and place their names on the books.

voters taking the prescribed oath, even if they do not pay or offer to pay the taxes of the current year, and place their names on the books of their respective wards."

The ordinance then gives the oath required of voters desiring to register.

"If a voter removes," says the ordinance, "from one ward to another between the time of registration and the time of voting, it will be the duty of the collector or register to change the name of such voter from the book of the ward of his former residence to the book for the ward into which he has moved at his request."

his request."

Mr. Howell asked whether the change would increase expense.

"I think not," said Mr. Middlebrooks.

"I think the law a good one in many respects," he said, "but I am opposed to it if it will require more money."

Mayor Pro Tem Hutchison called Mr. Howell to the chair, and advocated the adopti the ordinance.

Mr. Woodward was inclined to favor the ordinance.

Mr. Hendrix was opposed to its passage, asking a reference, so that it might be more carefully considered.

It was referred to the ordinance committee.

Wants a Full Attendance. Mr. Woodward presented an ordinance requiring the attendance of the members of the beards of the different departments of the city government.

"Whereas a public office is a public trust,"

see no necessity for a delay."

"I am favorable to the ordinance." said Mr.

"For the sake of harmony," said Mr. Mc-Bride, "I move to put it on the table until next meeting."

The motion prevailed.

"I am heartily in favor of the resolution," said Mr. Kontz. "The sections referred to are ample protection and the city needs no more. Then, too, we have an ordinance making members of all boards individually responsible for the expenditure of more money than their appropriation."

Mr. Woodward was opposed to the resolution saying:

Mr. Hulsey favored Mr. Howell's resolution.
So did Mr. King.

A royal reception did Wilson get. His company—so the general verdict was—is better than in the beginning of the season, and that means better than it ever was. Every number was good and every per

The entire company met the members of the local lodge and their friends at the Elks' beautiful ooms, and a most enjoyable two hours was spent there. There were songs and stories and fun, all of it sandwiched in with refreshments. The affair was certainly highly enjoyed.

Worth Thinking About.

WHEN YOU WANT A LAWYER, do you ask all the attorneys that you know to "make a bid" and then employ the cheapest? Do you not rather look for the attorney whose skill, knowledge of the law and personal character will protect your interest?

WHY NOES NOT THE SAME IDEA apply to other lines of business where confidence becomes a factor in your dealings, for instance, in the purchase of a WATCH or a DIAMOND? It cannot be denied that considering quality and price one yard of cloth may be dear at four cents, another cheap at teenty, one watch dear at ten dollars, another cheap at twenty. Now, to determine the question of cheapness, we must consider 1st. The standing of the establishment which sells the watch.

2d. The value of the guarantee to the purchaser of the watch.

3d. The acknowledged merits of the watch offered.

Dick Hawes and his wife, Emma Hawes, again claim public notice.

This time their Atlanta home is in litiga-

The petition for injunction was brought by Messrs. A. J. West and J. W. Goldsmith, and the defendants were W. R. Phillips & Co. and L. P. Thomas, sheriff.

Outside the fact that the litigation is over the home that once sheltered Dick Hawes and Emma Hawes, and poor little Irene and May, the allegations in the bill are unusually inter-The property is on West Hunter street, 145 and 147, and is now considered quite valuable. Messrs. West & Goldsmith, in their application for injunction, set forth that in 188 bought the property from R. R. and Emma Hawes. Before the trade was consummated.

W.-R. Phillips & Co., who held mortgage notes on it to the amount of five hundred dollars, agreed to cancel these upon payment by the plaintiffs of four hundred and ten dollars. Altogether there were eight of these notes. The first four were for $75 each, and bore date May, 1886. The second loan was on four notes of $50 each, dated January 21, 1887.

At maturity none of these notes were paid.

W. R. Phillips & Co. sued on them before Justice Butt, and obtained a general judg-ment, a copy of which is attached to the papers when the copy of which is attached to the papers submitted to Judge Clarke.

When negotiations for the purchase of the property began between Hawes and his wife and the plaintiffs, it is alleged that Phillips agreed to cancel the fi. fas. he held against it upon payment to one Mrs. L. C. Flanden of $410, provided this was done in two days from the date of his agreement to the cancellation.

Acting upon this, the document proceeds, the plaintiffs closed the trade and delivered over to Richard and Emma Hawes the full amount of the purchase money agreed upon between them, less $410, which was to be paid Mrs. Flanden to secure the cancellation of the fi. fas. held against the property by Phillips & Co.

Within the prescribed two days, the petition recites, the plaintiffs tendered the $410 to Mrs.

L. C. Flanden, but she declined to accept it, stating that Phillips had instructed her to pur-

Then the money was tendered to Phillips, but he refused to carry out the agreement, but mised to do so, the bill further states.

More than three years have elapsed since this promise is alleged to have been made by Phillips, and still it remains unfulfilled, and the executions yet hang over the property deeded to the plaintiffs by Dick and Emma

A novel part of the bill is that which charges Phillips with menacing tenants of the property with the execution he held, warning them that they were liable to be made to pay a double rent—to West & Goldsmith and to him. Also preventing a sale of the property by his continued refusal to cancel the execution.

The property is now untenanted and the plaintiffs claim that Phillips has damaged them to an amount exceeding $500 by his conduct toward them and toward their tenants. Phillips has had fi. fas. levied upon the property, and it has been advertised for sale on sday, May 6, under these levies by the sheriff.

It is alleged that Phillips is insolvent. The bill prays for an order of court requir-Ing Phillips to cancel the mortgage he holds against the property on payment of $410, or so much of that amount as the court decides he is entitled to after deduction for the damages sustained through him by the petitioners had been made. The Georgia Pacific Sued.

Mayson & Hill, attorneys for C. C. Mayson. yesterday brought suit against the Georgia Pacific Railway company for $5,000 damages.

On January 16th last, the declaration alleges, the plaintiff bought a round trip ticket to Salt Springs, which he discovered after he had taken his seat in the coach and the train had pulled out, was a special form of ticket used between Atlanta and the Chautauqua in 1800.

This ticket required that the holder pres an attached coupon to the agent at Salt Springs, where a return coupon would be furnished within three days from its date, and stated that unless this direction was complied with, the ticket was not good was complied with, the ticket was not good for return transportation.

The plaintiff states that at Austell, some distance this side of Salt Springs, he determined to get off, and upon showing his ticket to the conductor and informing him of this intention, he was told that the agent at that place would furnish him with a return ticket upon presentation of his coupon, just the same as if he had gone on to Salt Springs, or if he would not, no conductor would put him off the train under the circumstances.

Acting upon this, the plaintiff goes on to state that he got off the train at Austell, but that the ticket agent there refused to make good his coupon by a return ticket to Atlanta. He then bearded the train for Atlanta on its arrival, and when the conductor came round tendered him the coupon, with an explanation.

THE CONVENTION AT DOUGLASVILLE. Official Invitations from the Committee in Charge.

To Northern Citizens of Fulton County: You are cordially and earnestly invited to meet at the court-house on Saturday, May 17th, 1890, at 3 p. m., for the purpose of ascertaining names, nativity and length of residence in Georgia, and to ascertain who will attend the state convention to be held at Douglasville June 18th, 1890, and to instruct delegates as to what action said convention should take in the matter of inducing northern immigra-tion to the Empire state of the south. For information, address,

THE CONVENTION OF NORTHERN CITIZENS.

THE CONVENTION OF NORTHERN CITIZENS.

As the call for this convention, to be held June 18th, at Douglasville, and its objects become more and more known, interest in the matter increases. The people of the south and those of the north, who are looking to the general good of the whole country without prejudice, begin to see the possibilities for good to come from such a movement, and letters are pouring in from every section of a most encouraging character.

The many happy, contented and prosperous citizens of our state who have come from northern states, are anxious that all the people of their former homes should know the truth in regard to the status of things in the south. And an actual knowledge of this, as well as of our delightful climate, our world of undeveloped resources, is all that is necessary to set a tide of labor and capital in this direction that will relieve the glut of capital in eastern cities and towns, and at the same time cause these forests rich in the finest timber, and these hills full of valuable ores, to yield up their treasures and make the whole sunny south to blossom like a garden.

We are glad to see our state newspapers—always treasures and make the whole sunny south to blossom like a garden.

We are glad to see our state newspapers—always foremost in every work looking to the prosperity of the people—taking hold of this enterprise and pushing the movement along to a success.

At the last meeting of the committee numbers of letters were read from different sections of the state, showing that the people begin to fully appreciate the importance of the movement.

school or a hotel-which?

So far as the Ballard school property is con-cerned, that question is not yet determined. The purchase of the property by Mr. Hum-phreys Castleman has been announced, and the transaction has been consummated. The purchasers, as has been stated, bought the property for an investment. It brought a fair price, and everybody concerned seems satisfied with the transaction

Several offers have been received by Mr. Castleman from people who desire to rent the property for hotel purposes. The building is admirably adapted to such purposes. It can be enlarged at but little expense so as to fur-nish all the room such an institution could need. Already negotiations looking to such

"But I don't want to see it used as a hotel," said Mr. Castleman, in talking about the matter yesterday. "Of course it makes no pecuniary difference to us whether we rent the building for hotel purposes or school purposes, but I very much hope the school will not be

Then he went on to explain: "Atlanta needs just such a high class school as Mrs. Ballard's school has been,"he continued."Right here ought to be located the finest female eminary or girls' school in the southern states. Everything proves that. The city, the climate, everything demand that Atlanta have a high grade school equal to the best in the land. I don't mean to say that there are not other good ones here, but it is admittedly true that this school ranks highest, and is the best known. We ought to have a school equal to Mrs. Reed's, Mrs. Huger's, Miss Peeples's, or any others of the famous eastern schools."

"Could it be made to pay?"
"I don't see why not. Last year Mrs. Ballard had applications for catalogues from thirty different states. She had pupils from almost every southern state, and many besides from the north. The climate of At lanta is a great inducement to people every-where. They have learned that we have the best climate in the world, and that naturally draws from the north and south alike.

"No," continued Mr. Castleman. "while "No," continued Mr. Castleman. "while the purchasers do not care to which use the building is put, when they look at it in a business light, they would, for the good of Atlanta, prefer to see the school kept up. I believe, for myself, that such a school is one of these was the structure of a reasy city and At. the very best institutions for any city, and At-lanta ought to have this school.

TEN BULLET HOLES.

A GROCER SHOT TO DEATH BY COMMISSION MERCHANT.

An Encounter Growing Out of a Business Transaction Results in the Death of a Well-Known Grocery Merchant.

And in the body and limbs of one man. The ten wounds were the fatal evidences of six pistel shots fired by Charles M. Ozburn into the body of John M. Bradley, a few minutes before one o'clock yesterday.

The trouble began at Bradley's store, at the intersection of Whitehall and Forsyth streets, and resulted in the killing of Bradley, who fell on the sidewalk, at the Whitehall corner of the store.

He was breathing his last when several persons, alarmed by the shots, arrived upon the alarm spread rapidly, and a great crowd assembled at the place where the tragedy occurred. The dead man lay where he fell for two hours before he was carried inside the store and the nature of his wounds examined.

In the meantime Dr. J. C. Avary, coroner of Fulton county, had been notified and appeared on the scene. A jury was soon empaneled, and the body of the dead man was removed, by his direction, to Swift's under-taking establishment, to be prepared for burial, and the jury adjourned to meet at the station-house at five o'clock.

HOW IT OCCURRED. Edward Thompson, a grocer on Whitehall street, diagonally across the street, was sitting in the window of his store, heard a shot in the direction of Bradley's store, and turning saw Bradley backing out of his store, and heard Bradley exclaim:

"Oh, my God! I am shot!" He then saw another man come to the door-way, and holding to the door fired four more shots in rapid succession. Bradley reeled and

The slayer then walked away. Thompson called "police," and the man shook his pistol at him. Thompson then asked one present to run down to Johnson's and telephone for a Thompson said: "You have shot Mr. Bradand I'll follow you if you go to New The messenger hurried down to O. B. Johnson's store and called for a policeman, and mpson, with another man, turned their attention to the slayer.

The man who did the shooting walked down Winsor, turned into Jones, went down Jones to Cooper, and turning into that street en-tered a dwelling, No. 25 Cooper street.

Thompson kept watch until the officer arrived. Sergeant Ozburn and Patrolman Betheo arrived about the same time. Sergeant Ozburn entered the residence and asked for the man who had come in there. The man appeared himself, and proved to be Charlie Ozburn, a cousin of the police officer, and he quietly submitted to arrest. The officers started with him

After he was locked up, Ozburn made a

He said that he was quite ill Sunday night, after returning from Marietta, where he went to visit his mother, and yesterday morning suggested to his partner, Mr. Stapp, that he go and collect the bills due the firm on the Marietta street side, and that he himself would collect the bills on the Whitehall street side during the afternoon.

Mr. Stapp returned shortly after noon and said that he had given a rebate to Toney & Bradley, at 606 Marietta, on some potatoes. The reason was that they claimed that the bill of potatoes sold them should have been rated at fifty-five pounds to the bushel, whereas the Florida consigners had rated them to Ozburn & Stapp at fifty pounds, and Stapp said that rather than have a difficulty he had agreed to make a rebate on the bill.

Ozburn said, "All right, I'll send up on Whitehall street and collect the other bill from Bradlev."

He sent a negro porter with the bill for potatoes, at the same rate, fifty-five pounds to the bushel. Shortly afterward the negro returned with the bill, saying that Mr. Bradley said he was tired of being worried by any such bill, as his partner had telephoned him about another bill of the same sort from the Marietta street store; and said that he would kick him out if he didn't leave the store. Ozburn then went and got a shave, made some light remarks to the barber, got his dinner and called at Bradloy's store with the bill. Bradley told him that he had threatened to kick the negro out, as he had been troubled with that sort of business long enough, and would kick him out if he fooled with him.

Ozburn remarked that that was a very ungentlemanly way to treat a man on business. Bradley became enraged, and grabbing a stick began to beat him over the head. The first stroke raised a knot on his head, and several others broke his hat, and Bradley being the larger man backed him up against the Ozburn drew his pistol, scarcely realizing what he was doing, began firing, and was un-able to tell how many shots he fired before the affray was over.

He had purchased the pistol only a few days ago for another purpose, and having to be out a good deal of nights, had kept it on his person. He never thought of it until Bradley bogan to strike him with the stick.

Ozburn was taken to Fulton county jail, but was brought back after he had consulted his attorney, Mr. Albert Howell, of Dorsey & Howell, by order of Chief Connolly, who claimed that he should remain in custody of the police until some action was taken by the wil authorities.

Dr. Avary, coroner, sustained him in this,

WHO THE PARTIES WERE. John M. Bradley was a man who was universally beloved and respected by all who

He was a magnificent specimen of manhood, weighing nearly or quite 200 pounds, between forty and forty-five years old, and of a handome appearance. He had been married twice. His oldest son, by his first wife, is a mere stripling; and he had five other children by his second wife.

All the little ones have been ill with whooping cough, at the family residence, No. 586 Marietta street. The scene at the home of the dead man when his tragic death became known was pathetic in the extreme.

Bradley was a merchant on Decatur street for a long while, but removed to No. 606 Marietta street, and his residence, 586 Marietta for a long while, but removed to No. 606 Marietta street, and his residence, 586 Marietta street, was only a few doors distant.

When the store on the site of the old Lutheran church, at the intersection of Whitehall and Forsyth was burned, together with the greater part of the goods of merchants who then occupied it, a new building was erected on the site, and Bradley rented it, establishing a retail grocery store.

He became quite popular, and was doing a fine business up to the time of his death.

Charles M. Ozburn is a young man thirtyone years of age. He is a brother of Jailer Seaborn Ozburn, and of Patrolman W. H. Ozburn and a cousin of Sergeant Bob Ozburn, of the police force. He was born and bred in Atlanta, and has always borne a good reputation.

He is one of the finest book-keepers in Atlanta, and was book-keeper for Gramiling & Spaiding, some years ago. He left Atlanta and went to Greenville, Mississippi, where he remained for awhile; returning he became book-keeper for Duncan & Camp, where he remained until about a month ago, when he went into the commission business with Mr. Stapp, and has been in the business up to the time of the tragedy. He has a wife, but no children. He has been boarding at the

when the case comes to trial.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST.

At 5 o''clock the coroner's jury met in the basement of the Fulton county court-house.

A number of witnesses were examined, none of whom threw any light on the killing, being persons who lived in the neighborhood, and were only alarmed by the crash of the shots and came out of their houses and saw a part of the tragedy.

The most important witness was Nellie Atkins, who had been on Peters street a few minutes before, and had purchased some goods. She was on her way home to Orange street, and passing the front of Bradley's store, she saw the two men sitting in there. They seemed to be discussing business matters.

Bradley had a bundle of papers in his hand, Bradley had a bundle of papers in his hand, and was talking with the other man.

Suddenly the other man raised up, and drawing a pistol from his hip pocket, began shooting. She became frightened and ran down as far as Brotherton's store. When she returned Bradley was lying dead on the sidewalk.

Thomas H. Miller. a barber at No. 99 White-hall street, heard him running on, as he had been accustomed to do, saying that he was going to fill a coffin before night. He jested with Ozburn and the whole affair passed off ing to fill a coffin before night. He jested with Ozburn and the whole affair passed off pleasantly.

Charles W. Morgan, the barber who shaved Ozburn, corroborated Miller's statements, and said that he went into Dittler's bar and took a drink of moxie, Ozburn taking a cocktail and saying that he wanted to go home to dinner.

W. G. Bowman, a city drummer, was at Allie B. Johnson's when the fight occurred. He heard the pistol shots and repaired to the scene. He saw Bradley as he came around the corner from the store and saw him fall. He saw Ozburn walk down Winsor and then lost sight of him. He testified to the good character of Bradley, saying that he had known him for a long while as a straight business man, and that he had seen Bradley and Ozburn on friendly terms some time before.

Johnson Smith, a drayman, was sitting on his dray and heard a pistol shot. He saw the man who was shot coming out of the door just after the first shot was fired, and heard him cry out "Oh!"

The man went out toward the Whitehall street corner of the store, then the other man following him kept shooting. The man in front seemed to be wounded, and after he reached the corner he turned as if to come back und then he fell. The man with the pistol put it back in his hip pocket, and crossed the street in the direction of Winsor.

pistol put it back in his hip pocket, and crossed the street in the direction of Winsor.

After this testimoney the coroner's jury adjourned to meet in the basement of the courthouse at 11 o'clock today.

The case is one that will probably occupy the attention of the courts of the county for some time, but no action will be taken until the verdict of the coroner's jury is given.

HIS EARLY RECORD.

Charlie Ozburn was involved in a dueling scrape, about twelve years ago. It grew out of some trouble concerning a girl.

It was claimed that he had sent a challenge to Mr. Anderson, of Newton county, who is now sheriff of that county, and he was arrested by police officers Vickers and Baird.

The case went by default, as nothing was ever proved against him.

He left soon after for Mississippi, and remained there for several years.

After he came back to Georgia, he became involved in a fracas with a negro named Lewis Williams, in Marietta, and thinking that the negro was attempting to draw a weapon, Ozburnshot him.

And Ozbum was detained in a cell in the station-house during the night.

The body of the dead man, J. M. Bradley, was carried to Swift's undertaking establishment, where it was examined by Drs. Robert Westmoreland and McConley.

There were ten bullet-holes in the body.

The fatal shot entered the left side just

HOLDS ITS THIRD ANNUAL MEET-

porta Show a Gratifying State of Affairs Financially—Old Board of Directors Is Re-Elected.

The third annual meeting of the East At-The third annual meeting of the East Avlanta Land company was held yesterday.

There was a full representation of stock, and present amongst others were: Messrs, S. M. Inman, W. J. Van Dyke, Joel Hurt, P. H. Harralson, J. Carroll Payne, J. L. Penson, J. S. Dozier, Wylie Sheek, J. E. Carlton, and

The old board of directors was re-elected without a single change, consisting now of Messrs. T. J. Hightower, Joel Hurt, Robert Winship, J. S. Dozier, P. H. Harvalson, W. C. Sanders and H. E. W. Palmer.

The election of president and secretary was postponed. A meeting of the directors will be called for this business today or within a very few days, and it is quite probable that Mr. Joel Hurt, president, and Litt Bloodworth, Jr., secretary, will be re-elected.

The reports showing the financial condition of the company were very gratifying, and of the company were very gratifying, and reflect credit upon the management of last

President Hurt says in his report: "Since your last annual meeting, a dividend of four per cent. has been paid to the stockholders, which, deducted from the surplus on hand at that time, left a remaining surplus of $139, 106.84. The surplus at this date is, $412,583.13, showing a profit for the past year of $273,476.29. Out of this profit it past year of $273,476.29. Out of this pront it might appear that a dividend should have been declared on the company's stock, but this has been deemed unadvisable, for the rea-son that the company has under way a num-ber of improvements and a great deal of va-cant property, which should be improved, all of which requires a large amout of cash dis-bursements.

"The rent account, which had been reduced to a minimum on account of the loss of buildings in the opening of Edgewood avenue, has been steadily increasing during the past year. Besides, the company is receiving interest on $86,276,66, bills receivable. We have sold to date $137,502 of real estate, and will probably sell enough additional during the next twelve months to liquidate the present indebtedness of the company.

"Among the company's assets is an item of

of the company.

"Among the company's assets is an item of $36,700 of the company's stock, which is listed at par (the actual cost to the company), while this stock is really worth an advance of over 50 per cent. on this amount. There are a number of other items, among them the stock in the Kirkwood Land company, which will show a large increase in the next annual statement.

"I see no reason why the company's income from rents and interest, to say nothing of the enhancement of values of properties, should not prove sufficient within a short while to pay regular semi-annual dividends of three per cent; while the large profits which appear in the surplus account, and which must largely increase during another year, may be disposed increase during another year, may be disposed of by special dividends or an increased stock

This is often felt in every joint and muscle of the body by turns, by people who, experiencing the carliest twinges of rheumatism, neglect to arrest the malady, as they may easily do, with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a professionally authenticated remedy for the agonizing complaint. On Alexander, Orme, Hunnicutt and Mills streets. This is close to business, only three blocks from Peachtree street, and is the largest piece of land so near the very center of the city that is now unoccupied. Just the place for residences for those who desire to be convenient to business on Marietta, Peachtree, or any intermediate streets. Here you would be independent of street cars, for you would be right at churches, stores, schools and the various industries near this property. Nice, clean cottages would rent to good thrifty and industrious tenents forever, and at proper prices. Here is the place to make a first-class investment. The improvements now going on around these blocks are bound to enhance the value of everything upon these streets. You can't make a mistake in buying any of these lots, because they are properly located. People are moving into Atlanta from all over the country, especially from the cold and flooded districts. New factories are going up all the time, while the old ones are constantly increasing their capacity. These new comers must have homes; they have got the money and will have them, and of course must pay four prices in the fluture. Now is your chance to buy cheap; $1,000 invested in this property now may be worth two or three thousand in a year or so. It is now admitted that no place in the United States is attracting, population and means like Atlanta. Then place your money in central real estate like this while it is cheap. You will certainly be handsonnecting Peachtree and Marietta street; it is broad, straight and beautifully graded. Orme street leads into Peters Park and is destined to be one of the most pleasant drives from the center of the eity to the park. Call and get your plat and be ready for the sale.

Henry Seltzer's Estate.

Worth Over $100,000.

THIS VALUABLE, BEAUTIFUL AND CHOICE property is upon the market for the purpose of paying debts and distribution, otherwise you could not obtain one inch of it. The three large level lots on Peachtree have no equals in the city. Look at the grand old original forest trees stretching out their graceful limbs to shade and protect the deep green grass, and you cannot help wanting one of these, the best on the street.

The valuable home on Houston street, No. 46, is close in and convenient. Such large lots are very scarce near the center of the city. Now, where can you find any central real estate for sale? I know of none but this on the corner of Broad and Walton streets. On Marietta street, just a jump from these brick stores, we all concede that the vacant ground is well worth

$1,000 PER FRONT FOOT.

This is almost as valuable, and yet such propertical contents of the stores.

$1,000 PER FRONT FOOT.

This is almost as valuable, and yet such property is enhancing all the time. Why? Becanse the great increase in population and in money increase the demand. There is no boom in Atlanta. Just a natural progressive increase. This and nothing more. Capitalists and investors will please call at my office for plats and information. The Peachtree and Juniper street property will be sold first at the court house. Then I will sell the clegant home, No. 46 Houston street, saving the dest sert—the central property right in the heart of the city—for the last.

They are 150 feet from Pryor street, a few blocks from the Kimball house, on the same street, right on the dummy; convenient to the union depot, Whitehall and Washington streets. In fact, is so central that they are convenient to everything you could wish. The surroundings are being rapidly improved by large expenditures that will greatly enhance the value of these lots. There are but few vacant lots between this block and the center of the city. Examine for yourself, and be convinced that this is the place to put your money. Why? Because it has annually enhanced in value for the last thirty years. Is there anything in the world to stop the enhancement? No, but a great deal to continue it more rapidly than ever. From these figures it will appear that only bysix percent of the total vote of Massaeither Congressman Lodge nor United States are Senator Hoar has yet charged that the rele of Massachusetts at the last election was IPE, pressed, yet the showing, if made in a thern state, would certainly be considered them as damaging evidence. Mew Bed-Goods. ord, the home of ex-Congressman William W. Cape, who desired the republican nomination is governor, but was beaten by John Q. A. Brockett, casting 3,191 votes out of a registered note of 5,375, and a total poll of 9,972. No one however accused Mr. Crapo or any one else with suppressing the vote of his city, although the returns conclusively proved that less than the vote of the state was suppressed or that any attempt was made to suppress it, and yet the facts are somewhat damaging for the theories of Mr. Hoar and Mr. Lodge, In that the same state of things found existing in the south is discovered in the north, and in the state of Massachusetts of all others. It might be supposed that the teachings of the fathers would be potent in this state to infence men to their duty in the responsibilities of government. It would certainly he expected that the ignorant colored vote of the north would feel these responsibilities less. And yet the republican politicians who scheme to perpetuate a rule no longer desirable for the country nor creditable to the past history of that party take just the contrary tiew.

If the descendants of the pilgrims at Plymoth still living on that historic spot, if the sons of the Puritans at Salem fail to ralize the responsibilities of citizenship, where shall those be found who do appreciate face daties as they should? It is undoubtedly true that the next census will make the showing in this state much more damaging in this ratter. The figures given are, as regards the total number of male polls, considered under the actual state of things. When Mr. Lodge and Mr. Hoar stand up to defend their federal election bills they will find these facts confronting them. The record of their own state in the case will be a strong witness against their scheme. Unless they are able, however, to do something of the kind it looks as if the igo of their part was up.

New England is turning against them, and tots must somehow be secured. If the south can be gagged they will be satisfied to act over again the infamous farce of 1876, and so ratin their hold a little longer upon departing power. The sentiment of honest men of both parties in New England is almost unanimous against this partisan and revolutionary scheme. Whenever and wherever republicans dare peak their minds they cry out against it as unjustifiable and undemocratic. It is denounced as an arbitrary usurpation of power, and as a movement which will do more to complicate and disturb the settlement of the race problem than an

The Interstate Business Tax.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 5.—[Special.]—
The Western Union Telegraph company this morning paid the state privilege tax of $3,000, levied by the state for one year, from April 8, 180, to April 8, 1891. The same question is involved in the payment of this tax as in the mit against the United States Express company and the Pullman company, and the atteneys for the Western Union advised that it be paid, as they decided that the tax was constitutional and legal. The express company and the Pullman company are fighting the payment of the tax, and in the Pullman case a law days ago Judge Jackson decided the tax to be unconstitutional.

distinguished minister. His lectures on the Bible and church work have been of immense value to the preachers now in attendance, representing reveral states.

Yesterday morning the bishop conducted a respensive service, consisting of a new arrangement of the doctrines of the church interspersed with appropriate hymns, the same being the work of the Rev. J. O. Foster. At 3 o'clock the great chapel was crowded, forty or fifty visitors from the various city churches being present. Quite a number of "chautanquaus" were present to meet the beloved leader of that phenomenally successful movement.

The sermon was one of profound thought. A masterly arraignment of skepticism, yet so presented as to most forcefully meet the deepest needs of the honest doubter. It was one of the strongest and most eloquent sermons ever given in the pulpit of this institution. The programme for today is as follows:

THE STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

Central debenture

Exchange. NEW YORK, May 5.—The large earnings of all railroads, as recently reported, are now having their legitimate effect in the stock market, and they, together with the prospect of the passage of the silver bill, are the principal sustaining elements in the structure. The market is rewalvest article. in the situation. The market is now almost entirely in the statute fighting western roads, and the re-cently published interviews with several of the western railroad managers have not had an en-couraging effect upon the stocks of the various properties which they represent, nor any discouraging effect upon the rest of the stock list. The market today was unusually active throughout the entire session, and commission houses report that outsiders are taking more and more interes that outsiders are taking more and more interest in speculations, and the action of the market today shows that the growing belief in the bull movement, which will not be confined to a limited number of stocks, is in existence. The recent predictions that signs of returning strength indicated that a revival was at hand that would bring back business enough to the street to make it equal to that of ten years ago were verified. Over five hundred thousand shares of stock were traded in today, while and shares of stock were traded in today, while only a short while ago an average day's sales was about one-fifth of that amount. Notwithstanding the continued talk of reaction indulged in last the continued talk of reaction indulged in last week and the hesitating nature of the market on the last two days of the week, today's market was strong, and even buoyant, with a very large volume of business in leyding stecks.

The leading strong stocks of the day were Wheeling and Lake Erie common, Manhattan, Atchison, Oregon Transcontinental, Texas Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, Chicago Gas, and even Missouri Pacific, the latter becoming the leader of the upward movement in the last hour, when it became known that it was represented at the became known that it was represented at the presidents' meeting at Chicago. Buying for out-side centers was larger than for some time, Chicago Luying western stocks, while Boston purchased Atchison and others of its favorites, and the same may be said of London. Operations of several new cliques and pools formed lately were effective in giving a buoyant tone to transactions, while the bears were left rapidly in the rear. While the bears were the raphdy in the lear. Everything shared in the improvement, and trusts showed much more life than usual of late, and lead and cotton oil especially. The market continued to advance throughout the day with but slight set-backs, and the close was very active and slight set-backs, and the close was very active and strong at the top figures. Chicago Gas fairly led the upward movement, and shows a gain this evening of 5% per cent, with Atchison, Transcon-tinental, lead and several of the specialties follow-ing. NEW YORK, May 5-[Special.]—Receipts at the orts today were upon a larger scale than of late, att without effect upon prices, which maintained the close the immediate of the close the clo but without effect upon prices, which maintained to the close the improvement made in the opening hour. Trading, however, was limited in consequence of the small spot sales in Liverpool, where spinners are evidently resting after their enormous purchases of the past three weeks, and our exporters report sales difficult to effect upon the spot. The market for future deliveries in Liverpool was quiet under the influence of the poor advices received from the Mississippi valley, closing dull at the best prices of the day. Mall advices from abroad are filled with expressions of surprise that congress should be willing to throw into English hands the control of the cotton trade by terworth bill, but conclude by say-ee only too happy to have the bill ts tomorrow are expected to be ans probably receiving 300 bales. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

of the Speculative Move Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 5.—The wheat market was active and the feeling very unsettled today. Prices fluctuated within a wide range, and changes were brokers to buy and sustained the market. Per-sistent buying for a while absorbed offerings, and at the same time encouraged parties who had not already sold to hold on to their wheat, and the decling changed, resulting in a rally of 3% for July, which at present is attracting the principal attention, then declined 1%c, ruled irregular and closed about 3c lower for May, 24c lower for June and %c lower for July than the closing figures of Saturday. The filling of both buying and selling orders was attended to with difficulty. In the first place, the decline of 21/23c from the close Satarday to the opening this morning was very unsatis factory, especially to parties having stop limit or-ders to execute; and, again, the up turn of nearly 4c in priese was unsatisfactory, part of this ad-vance being so rapid as to make the filling of orders at certain prices difficult.

Corn—There was another large trade with the surrounding conditions about the same as noted for several days past. The feeling prevailing continues strong, though upon the opening there was rather more disposition to sell, but offerings were quickly taken by all classes of buyers, and the market ruled higher. The principal strengthen-ing influences were small receipts, large shipments and a decrease in the local stocks, and also the up and a decrease in the local stocks, and also the up turn in wheat. There was a good demand on local account, and New York was said to be buying freely, as also provision houses and parties with foreign correspondents. The market opened active *at ¼c under Saturday's closing prices, but offer-ings were quickly absorbed, and the market ad-vanced, with slight reactions, 1@1%c, sold off ¼@ %c, ruled firmer and closed ¼@%c better than Saturday.

Oats were active, but an unsettled feeling prevailed, and prices changed frequently within a range of %c. The principal trading was in July, which, owing to reports of rain in the west and northwest, was offered quite freely at times, particularly at the opening, and the difference between it and May spread from % to %c. The opening sales were at ½6%c decline, when buyers took hold freely and trees were hid more larger. took hold freely and prices were bid up 1/2@ 1/4c. May showing the greatest advance. The strength in wheat also assisted in the advance. Later, when that market weakened, oats sympathized, and prices receded %a %c. Trading in pork was unusually light, and sales were almost exclusively for July delivery. Prices ruled 10 20c higher, and the market closed steady Prading in lard was moderate. At the opening a few sales were made at $2\frac{1}{2}$ c decline. Later the market exhibited a little more strength and prices slowly improve $6\frac{5}{2}$ c. Toward the close the feeling was quiet, and the last sales were made at about inside figures.

A fair business was done in short ribs during the early part of the day, but prices were unsettled. Offerings were fair and a few sales were nade at ½@%c-decline on Saturday's closing figures. Later the market exhibited considerab
